

Maluti Antique Auto and Machine Club

Attend The Paul Roux Village Day

27 October 2012

The Paul Roux Forum, restaurants and coffee shops, the NGK and APK churches, as well as Paul Roux veteran car owners, together with visitors from the Maluti Antique Auto Club, all came together to have a market/bazaar and veteran car morning in front of the Smit Saal in Voortrekker Street, Paul Roux, from 9am to 13h00 on Saturday the 27th October 2012.

The Maluti car club arrived in convoy at 10am to join local veteran and classic cars exhibited together in the street, whilst people enjoyed the offering of the market and church bazaar tables, and of course home-made baking, etc.. Breakfast, coffee, cake and lunch was also available at the Stoep Café and Pink Tricycle and from the tables.

A good atmosphere prevailed and everyone enjoyed the morning.

Paul Roux itself was able to field a group of 12 veteran and classic cars to make a very nice line up with the visitors from the Maluti Antique Auto club of about 30 cars.

Village Day a success

THE first Paul Roux Village Day took place on the morning of Saturday 27 October when, for the first time, the Paul Roux Residents Forum, the APK and NG churches, local restaurants Die Stoep Café and Pink Tricycle, as well as local veteran car owners, clubbed together to hold a special day in their village.

Dr. Richard Lewis said that it was especially appreciated that his invite to the Maluti Antique Auto & Machine Club to join the village for the morning by all driving their beautiful cars in convoy to Paul Roux was accepted.

They added so enthusiastically to the morning.

He added: "God had blessed the Village with a perfect weekend of fine weather – the sun was shining, the cars were shining and faces were shining." Some people had come from as far away as Kroonstad and Rosendal.

Dr Lewis stated that it was felt that this should become an annual event and that with good planning the day could only grow in size, interest and success.

Below is a selection of photographs of vehicles that attended the event.
